

Rule of One

(for reducing cognitive load)

Introduce one letter/sound at a time.

Write only one concept on the board or overhead at a time.

Handout information is on one page.

Pass out one piece of paper at a time.

Give one direction at a time. Chunk longer directions.

Give upper grade students a one page summary of what they will be reading in a new content or concepts.